Relaxing on the River

We believe that there is nothing like a river adventure for relaxing. That is why we subscribe to the dry oar philosophy of boating. Keeping your oars dry for us means taking time to look around and notice the beauty that surrounds the rivers we love.

Feel the Rush of the River

That doesn't mean we don't also like rapids. Opposites in all things after all. We believe that that tenseness that comes when you are looking down the tongue of a big string of waves makes you appreciate the calm beautiful water that always follows even more.

Come Run with Us!

We invite you to come relax with us on one of the amazing rivers we visit. Check out our adventures and let us know which one best suits you. We're waiting to hear from you!

Flaming Gorge Rafting

Below Flaming Gorge Dam, the crystal clear Green River offers splashy Class II rapids, interspersed with calm sections that inspire swimming, watching for wildlife and gazing at the canyon scenery. The river is teeming with trout, which has earned it the reputation of one of the country's finest trout fishing streams. Flaming Gorge is an ideal section of river for first-time rafters and young families.

Green River Rafting through the Gates of Lodore

Set aside as an American treasure in 1955 under the National Park Service, Dinosaur National Monument is an open-air archive of ancient Native American sites and far-out fossils unearthed by wind, water and time. Within the monument, our Green River rafting adventure winds its way through three distinct canyons: Lodore, Whirlpool and Split Mountain. At its start, the river twists through a catacomb of scarlet slot canyons, yawning valleys and lush ledges of emerald evergreen and brush. Exploration is the mission of the day as the Green promises numerous side hikes, relaxing nights on the beach and moderate whitewater perfect for young families and laid-back vacationers.

Cataract Canyon Whitewater Rafting

Rafting in Utah on the Colorado River through Cataract Canyon has it all: breathtaking scenery, multiple days of relaxing flat water, and one action-packed day of Class III-IV whitewater rafting. Add to that rollicking Utah hiking expeditions by foot in Utah's dramatic canyon country among multi-million-year-old rock formations and you have a whitewater rafting adventure suitable for the whole gang.
